FBI Tampa says ‘possible energetic materials’ found in suspicious package at MacDill Air Force Base

The device was said to have been found outside the MacDill Air Force Base visitors center at the Dale Mabry gate. This caused traffic to be diverted as officials cleared the scene. According to FBI Tampa, a field screening of the package found “possible energetic materials” in its contents. Energetic materials are best defined as materials that store a large amount of chemical energy. This can include types of fuel, propellants, and explosive materials, but at this time, the type of materials found at MacDill is not known. A final lab analysis has yet to be completed.

CONTEXT

Unattended items in a church setting are common, and most churches do not comprehend the danger. Yes, despite escalation of attacks on churches using explosives. This includes the tactics, techniques and procedures trained and deployed by foreign intelligence services control of these operations, using domestic insurgent groups. Most churches by choice remain soft targets.

Most churches are still uninterested in avoiding the “fear of attending church” and cite this as why they suppress readiness and measures designed to detect and active defense of their congregation and property. In this incident, an alert individual noted the item and reported it which mitigated the threat quickly and preserved the scene, evidence and information for successful pursuit of those responsible.

It has been the personal experience of In Obscura that alerting clergy to an exact real incident at the front door as the congregation received frustrated anger. I made the discovery, minutes before the congregation was about to exit at least fifty people as the service was ending.

I was outside monitoring the property. This was a large pocketbook overstuffed with contents. It was propped up against a beam at the front doors. The owner was identified, but the danger here is clergy had no conception of what could have happened, no plan to protect its congregation or real property. They had a security force, and usually they sat with their families deeply in the pews. Totally ineffective.

Unattended items can also be placed by hostile forces to test the absence or reaction of security force, part of target intelligence collection also known as pre-operational surveillance. Testing your security response, every aspect, to include recording your evacuation and public safety response. As well, your lethargy and ignorance. Those hostile forces were in your church service and-or recording that incident outside. In Obscura has reported target surveillance and intelligence collection against churches.

On Tuesday, Clark State College and Wittenberg University also received threats, forcing evacuations and shutting down classes.

On Wednesday, two churches, including Saint John Missionary Baptist Church, which recently hosted a rally in support of Haitians, and Christ Episcopal Church, were targeted. Authorities said all of the threats were not credible. This situation comes as Springfield finds itself at the center of the national debate over the temporary protected status for Haitian migrants.

CONTEXT

These incidents are terrorist attacks. Fear is the core of terrorism, inculcated by waves of frightful events. These are also target surveillance activities, intelligence collection against your church and of course the fear factor of children targeted at schools. As with the above unattended item, the same tactical principles apply to STOP VIOLENCE. Identify, detect, exploit and neutralize threats to the Flock, before they are successful. Ohio man who used church computer to download child porn sentenced

During the execution of a search warrant in April 2024, Brown was allegedly actively downloading and exchanging child pornography with undercover agents who had been monitoring him. After his arrest, he told authorities he used Peer 2 Peer software to download the material, and he called himself a "collector." Devices investigators collected included a computer from Worthington Adventist Academy and Worthington Seventh-Day Adventist Church, where Brown volunteered. The church and school's IP address was flagged as the third most active in downloading child sexual abuse material in Ohio.

CONTEXT

There are a few concerns here. Lax security consciousness allowing access to a church computer containing very sensitive organizational, financial, personally identifiable information and others.

Truth or Consequences church evacuated after threat, Police chief says investigation ongoing, Algernon D'Amassa, Journal Staff Writer, Published March 18, 2026 - 6:30 p.m.

Police evacuated a church during its Sunday morning service after an unidentified individual called emergency dispatch and threatened to detonate a pipe bomb there. Police Chief Luis Tavizon told the Journal the church's security cameras recorded footage of an individual exiting a vehicle in the parking lot and roaming around, appearing to check doors at the back side of the church. It was not yet clear whether that activity was related to the telephoned threat.

"We got the license plate, and there is still an investigation on that," Tavizon said. Tavizon said memories linger in the region of the Aug. 2, 2015, bombing of two Las Cruces churches, when homemade devices exploded 20 minutes apart at the Calvary Baptist Church and Holy Cross Catholic Church.

"With the state of everything, what had happened in Cruces ... it's a little concerning," Tavizon said. "We wanted to make sure we did our due diligence to figure out what was going on. We'll be working with our federal partners to trace that plate number and figure out who made that threat."

CONTEXT

This was a terror attack. Not the first one, and probable a terrorist group and their surveillance activities NEVER detected. There is no excuse, even the historic successful attacks are listed in this article.

Typical scenario of the seriousness of the church location, the threat present in that region and the risk facing the church that no one seems to be interested in tracking. Here we have deadly hostile contact outside the church during funeral services, with no nexus to the attack. What would your reactions include by your pastors and congregations upon contact? Garner man brought rocket-fueled pipe bomb to church, police allege

A Garner man is accused by town police of placing a pipe bomb in a church parking lot. Police charged Christopher Glenn McMullen, 38, on Tuesday with possession of a weapon of mass destruction, second-degree trespassing and littering, the Garner Police Department said Wednesday afternoon. Police responded to a suspicious item call on Feb. 27 at The Capital Church, 1308 U.S. 70 West. A warrant for McMullen's arrest says the pipe bomb contained approximately 10 ounces of solid rocket fuel: potassium nitrate and sugar. "Currently, there is no ongoing threat to the public," Capt. David Casteline wrote Wednesday in a news release. "Investigators have found no evidence suggesting that Capital Church or its members were specifically targeted, and there is no reason to believe this incident was directed at the congregation."

CONTEXT

It does not matter if evidence "was not found" of specific targeting. This "...pipe bomb was PLACED..." The apparent complexity of the device is very, very concerning of the technical proficiency of the SUBJECT and evidence of something much greater. WHY? was this IED placed there at that time?

Churches MUST be trained and evaluated on IED detection and management. Few if any are tactically trained and situationally aware on a perpetual basis to alert to and engage to neutralize hostile or suspicious activity enough to deny access to the target. That is my

LAPORTE COUNTY, IN (WSBT) — A man was arrested at a Michigan City Church and is facing multiple charges, including Attempted Murder and Possession of a Destructive Device or Explosive. Matthew Schutz, 41, was sitting with parishioners at the Full Gospel Church in the 2700 block of Ohio Street on March 11. Schutz attempted to flee the scene as police approached him.

According to police, Schutz was found in possession of multiple explosive devices when he was apprehended. Schutz was there to allegedly shoot a parishioner and armed with explosives and a firearm. After obtaining a search warrant, investigators found additional explosive devices and manufacturing materials at Schutz' home in the 200 block of Brinkman Avenue. Police say the Porter County Sheriff's Office bomb squad responded to the scene and assisted in the investigation. The Porter County Bomb Squad took custody of the explosive devices that were seized.

Man escorted out of Prestonwood Church by security during sermon on Israel, war in Iran

<https://www.christianpost.com/news/man-removed-from-texas-megachurch-during-sunday-service.html>

The disruption occurred March 15 at the 11 a.m. worship service in the main sanctuary of Prestonwood Baptist Church in Plano, a suburb north of Dallas. A man, described by one churchgoer as a possible “protester” and by others as overly excited, began “shouting” during a sermon by Pastor Jack Graham on “America, Israel and War in the Middle East.” Linda Casey, who told The Christian Post that she has attended Prestonwood since 2000, said at one point during the service Graham began preaching on “Israel, and the Jews being God's chosen people,” when an unidentified man disrupted the sermon before he was escorted out by three members of the security team.

“I was not sure if he was armed or not, but Pastor Jack Graham was pulled away from the podium momentarily amidst the chaos,” Casey told CP on Monday. “Before he returned to finish the sermon, I bolted out to find my son, who was in children’s church.”

Casey said that uncertainty about the man’s intentions and whether he was acting alone prompted her quick exit from the sanctuary. “At this point, we didn’t know if the man had an accomplice or was alone. I was not waiting around for a potential shootout or bomb threat,” she said. “The whole ordeal was scary.”

When deputies arrived at the church, a man was surrounded by a crowd, allegedly making threats. The arrest citation stated that, as the man, identified as James Bell, was being arrested, the church’s pastor asked authorities what was happening. Deputies told the pastor about receiving a call, but the pastor reportedly told authorities a demon had possessed Bell, and the church was praying over him. The pastor said he never heard Bell make threats, but the woman who called authorities told deputies Bell walked into the church screaming, “I am here to kill,” and “I will kill the children,” according to the citation. Other church members told authorities they heard Bell make the same threats.

U.S. officials have detected unidentified drones above Fort Lesley J. McNair in Washington, D.C. over the last two weeks, where Secretary of State Marco Rubio and Defense Secretary Pete Hegseth live, according to three people briefed on the situation who spoke to the Washington Post. Officials have not determined where they came from, two of the people said, though the military is monitoring potential threats more closely because of the heightened alert level due to the Iran War.

Multiple drones were spotted over Fort McNair on a single night in the last 10 days, the official said, prompting increased security measures and a meeting on how to respond at the White House. The drone sightings prompted officials to weigh relocating Rubio and Hegseth, two of the people briefed said. The senior administration official said the secretaries haven't moved. Their quarters on the base were publicly reported by multiple outlets in October.

Please take a breath neighbors!

Yes we are in FPCON Charlie here in Tampa but as long as we stay aware of our surroundings, carry where legal, (not on base) and avoid large public gatherings, we can effectively mitigate the risk to ourselves, our families, and fellow citizens.

There is and will always be crazies!
I lived in FPCON D (home to base, base to home only, for several months after 9/11 while stationed at COMUSNAVCENT in Bahrain.
Then lived with elevated risk while in Qatar for two years (04-06) supporting the DOW and we were in FPCON C most of that time.
Bottom line; As long as we always maintain situational awareness and don't be a soft target, we will be OK!

I'll be making a commissary run to MacDill AFB tomorrow. I refuse to let the real threat of Iranian nut-jobs and their supporters, keep me from living my life and getting some steaks on base! 🇺🇸

MacDill AFB is now at FPCON CHARLIE. This posture allows us to implement deliberate security measures proactively. All personnel should remain vigilant, follow the direction of security forces, and report any suspicious activity immediately. Everyone plays a role in base defense – if you see something, say something. Report suspicious activity to the base defense operations center at 813-828-3322.

Please be patient as we expect delays and heavier than normal gate traffic.

We appreciate your cooperation as we prioritize the safety and security of our installation.

 BREAKING: A Catholic church at @MarquetteU has been vandalized. Suspect is reportedly in custody. This is becoming a pattern.

Week after week, churches, especially Catholic churches, are targeted.

Evil hates what is good, true, and holy.

 !! | The narcodictator Daniel Ortega has unleashed his lowest blow against the faith by prohibiting the ordination of new priests and deacons in key regions of the country. The regime seeks to leave the Church without leaders and force parishes to close due to lack of personnel. This is added to the expulsion of more than 300 religious figures, making it clear that the goal is to completely silence the voice of religion in Nicaragua.
