(United States) The U.S. State Department is directing nearly all of its global missions to emphasize to local governments the importance of protecting their Jewish communities during the upcoming High Holidays, according to a diplomatic cable that JNS saw. The notice requests delivery of basic information about the holidays and of the anniversary of the 07 October 2023 attacks, which occurred during Simchat Torah 2023. It also says that missions should urge their host governments to provide security briefings and security coordination avenues to Jewish institutions, security entities, and businesses ahead of the holidays. The embattled nonprofit released its annual “Back to school resource guide” for K-12 students Monday, containing a link outlining the outrageous claims – but it was inexplicably yanked a day later. Screenshots obtained by The Post show the 16-page guide linked to a page that claimed the devastating Sept. 11, 2001, attacks that killed nearly 3,000 Americans were masterminded not by Islamic terrorists but a “group self-identifying as Al Qaeda hailing from the mountains of Afghanistan.”

CAIR also blamed the US's response for an “aggressive shift in US domestic and foreign policy” that sparked the Middle East's War on Terror and an “erosion of civil liberties of many Americans.” “While Islamophobia and anti-Muslim racism existed long before the 9/11 attacks, this time period marked a stark shift in US policy and state sponsored Islamophobia in the US and abroad. There was immediate backlash against anyone perceived to be Muslim” wearing traditional garb, it said.

“The further we get from 9/11, this new generation of kids will learn to blame our country. These kids are going to be poisoned – and that’s the intent.”

While glibly glossing over the Islamic terror responsible for the devastation of 9/11, CAIR, considered the largest Muslim civil rights group in the US, shifted focus to the aftermath, which led to “the rise in hate crimes and discrimination against American Muslim and perceived- Muslim communities.”

Antifa Mob Storms Church, Attacks Conservative Activist During Anti-Islam Rally, Chasing Him into Starbucks and Dousing Him with Blue Paint While Screaming ‘Nazi!’

RAIR Foundation USA, 24 Aug 26, <https://rairfoundation.com/antifa-mob-storms-church-attacks-conservative-activist-during/>

Anti-Islam Protest Turns Violent The demonstration was originally advertised to take place outside the Islamic Center of Southern California on Vermont Avenue. Touted as a “Freedom of Speech rally,” the event’s advertisement encouraged attendees to “Stand Up, Speak Out, Make Your Voice Heard” and said it would be conducted under the principles of “Respect, Dialogue, Community, Freedom.” Antifa and the leftists evidently ignored that part.

A pre-event advisory circulated by leftists described the event as a “far-right” rally and accused its organizers of targeting the Muslim community. That got the attention of Antifa and any Islamic foot soldiers on the left who wanted to get their violence on. When counterprotesters gathered outside the Islamic center, Connolly advised his supporters to relocate to the nearby Precious Blood Catholic Church in Koreatown for their safety. The mob followed them with violent intentions.

Conservative journalist Andy Ngo reported that left-wing extremists and Antifa activists stormed the church, disrupting the rally, and one of them physically lifted Connolly, throwing him out of the church. Then they chased him from the property to nearby Starbucks.

The incident was caught on video, which shows the mob surrounding Connolly and repeatedly calling him a “Nazi” and a “terrorist” as they attacked him. As he ran into the CLEVELAND, Ohio - A viral social media trend took a destructive turn last week when, according to police, so-called urban explorers ventured into a Cleveland church and set a fire that gutted the historic structure. John McManamon, 19, of Lakewood was arrested and given a $10,000 bond Wednesday in Cleveland Municipal Court in connection with the blaze at the former Friendship Baptist Church near East 55th Street and Central Avenue, which investigators said was intentional. According to an arrest warrant, McManamon and two other people entered the vacant church and used materials found inside the building to start a fire. The three fled after the blaze began, the warrant says.

A naturalized U.S. citizen who rammed an explosives-laden truck into a Michigan synagogue in March was the brother of a Hezbollah commander, Israeli officials said. The attacker, Ayman Mohamed Ghazali, 41, of Dearborn Heights, drove a pickup into Temple Israel in West Bloomfield Township on March 12. About 150 children and staff were inside. A security officer was struck, and Ghazali died after a gunfight with synagogue security. The truck carried commercial-grade fireworks and about 35 gallons of gasoline.

Days earlier, an Israeli airstrike in Lebanon killed two of Ghazali's brothers and two of his brothers' children. The Israel Defense Forces later identified one of those brothers, Ibrahim Muhammad Ghazali, as a Hezbollah commander who managed weapons operations in a

U.S. judge throws out confessions of alleged 9/11 mastermind: report

IN OBSCURA IS IN STRICT AND STRONG OBJECTION ESPECIALLY ALLEGATIONS OF TORTURE

Khalid Sheikh Mohammed, the alleged Sept. 11 mastermind, is seen shortly after his capture during a raid in Pakistan, March 1, 2003. A U.S. military judge ruled Friday that confessions made by alleged 9/11 attacks mastermind Khalid Sheikh Mohammed to FBI agents are inadmissible and cannot be used against him at trial, The New York Times reported. Mohammed, also known as “KSM,” was considered one of Al-Qaeda leader Osama bin Laden’s top lieutenants before he was captured in March 2003 in Pakistan.

Prosecutors have already excluded statements that Mohammed made after his capture when he was held by the CIA in overseas prisons and subjected to brutal treatment including waterboarding before his transfer in 2006 to Guantanamo, the Times reported.

But the trial judge Lieutenant Colonel Michael Schrama has concluded that Mohammed’s subsequent interrogations in 2007 at Guantanamo were also inadmissible. “The prosecution has failed to prove by a preponderance of the evidence that Mr. Mohammad’s statements to the FBI were voluntarily given,” Schrama wrote in his ruling, which was not immediately released to the public. The Times said its unclassified contents were confirmed by several lawyers who had seen it.

Schrama cited an “unbroken continuation of the CIA’s psychological conditioning and severe coercion,” and also found that FBI agents intentionally failed to tell Mohammed that he had a right to be silent and to consult a lawyer. Prosecutors can appeal the ruling.

3 firefighters injured battling blaze that destroyed historic Michigan church

By Jon Brown, Christian Post Reporter Friday, August 28, 2026

<https://www.christianpost.com/news/3-firefighters-injured-in-blaze-that-destroyed-michigan-church.html>

Captain Ryan Sparks told the local outlet that the fire, which caused significant damage as it tore through the building's basement and main level, was particularly hard to contain as firefighters worked for hours.

"It was full of smoke, zero visibility, lots of staircases going in different directions, but they were able to get to the fire with water on it in six minutes," he said. "Churches in themselves are a challenge from the get-go. ... A building like this size, before the fire even shows itself, it fills up that entire building with smoke. So, we don't know that the fire is even showing until it breaks out a window, or until there's so much smoke in that building that starts pushing out through the roof or vents or things like that." "This fire burned a long time before we were even notified, potentially hours before we were notified," he added.

Time for a New Crusade against Islam? - The Difference Between Invasion and Invitation, Raymond Ibrahim, Aug 27, Substack,

<https://raymondibrahim.substack.com/p/time-for-a-new-crusade-against-islam>

Is it time to call for a new crusade?

Not long ago, merely uttering the word "crusade" in connection with Islam was enough to provoke outrage. When George W. Bush casually referred to the coming war on terrorism as a "crusade" in the immediate aftermath of 9/11, the backlash was swift enough that the administration distanced itself from the word. Considering the countless apologies, condemnations, and mea culpas concerning the crusades that Westerners have been subjected to ever since, one might have assumed that “crusade” had been permanently banished from public discourse. Yet, today, amid mounting anger over Islam and mass Muslim immigration, Westerners are once again openly invoking the crusades—and some appear to mean it quite literally.

Last week, for example, Jake Lang led what was explicitly billed as a “Christian Crusader” march in Dearborn, Michigan, home to one of America’s largest Muslim populations. Its stated purpose was to oppose the “Islamification of America,” and Lang was hardly coy about what he thought was happening. “The Muslims have not come here to assimilate,” he said. “They have come here to steal the wealth of this land to rape our women... The crusade has begun,” he declared, adding to Muslims, “Your time in this country is running short... Muslims go home before we send you home.”

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (WOOD) — Part of a roof collapsed overnight at LaGrave Avenue Christian Reformed Church in downtown Grand Rapids after fire crews spent hours trying to put the flames out.

A spokesperson for the Grand Rapids Fire Department told News 8 that the fire started around 11 p.m. Wednesday night on Oakes Street and Sheldon Boulevard. On social media, LaGrave Avenue CRC said the fire was happening at the former Seventh Day Adventist building and there was no risk to the main LaGrave building.

GRFD said there are multiple add-ons to the church which made it difficult to put the flames out. Firefighters worked to clean up all the mess as fire investigators look into what sparked that fire. The scent of smoke from the fire could be detected around the city in the early morning hours.

An Arizona-based street evangelist says his team was assaulted during a street outreach in the LGBT “Rainbow District” in Los Angeles. David Hoffman of His Kingdom Enterprises was with other members of a street evangelism team in the West Hollywood area around 2 a.m. on Aug. 16 when he says David Ramirez, another member of his group, was “sucker punched” from behind by an unidentified assailant.

According to Hoffman, the incident occurred just outside Sweetwater, a lesbian bar near the corner of San Vicente and Santa Monica Boulevards, where Ramirez was “giving someone else a hug to show them that he loved them and was not against them.”

Video footage of the incident showed Ramirez telling the crowd, “Receive Jesus as your Savior; I want you to enter the Kingdom of God,” when he was assaulted by a pedestrian along a rainbow-painted “LGBT pride” crosswalk. Moments after the assault, Ramirez is heard saying, “Praise God, praise God. Hallelujah.” In the video’s caption, Ramirez said he was hit two or three times, including one punch to the throat that hit his Adam’s apple and caused him to lose his voice.

According to Hoffman, the assailant — whose face cannot be clearly seen in the video — left the scene “cursing him out,” along with others in the area joining in. “He came over to me and pointed to his throat and almost inaudibly said that he couldn’t talk. At first, I thought it was just a small thing. Like maybe the wind had got knocked out of him.” Hoffman said he called the police to report the assault, but “they were not much help.” “[Ramirez] showed them the video, but it was very hard for him to communicate with them because his throat was swelling and he could not speak,” he said.

This proposal was rooted in the vision of Ayatollah Ali Khamenei, and if implemented, it will provoke a global geopolitical and economic earthquake... An immediate primary consequence will be the termination of the US presence across the broader Middle East and the Persian Gulf region... something that represents a core aspiration of numerous Muslim states.

Furthermore, the president praised Iran's national unity during the difficult period of the war unleashed by the US and Israel, characterizing it as a "tremendous advantage." As he stated, Iranians rushed to defend their country upon witnessing threats to its existence and territorial integrity. Iran was attacked during a period when it had resumed negotiations with the US, he noted, emphasizing: "We did not start the war, but we resisted fiercely against this assault." "Defending Iran does not signify hostility toward Muslim and neighboring nations. No Muslim country should allow the use of its territory as a launchpad for attacks against another Muslim country, and no Muslim country should pursue its own security at the expense of its neighbor's security," stressed Pezeshkian.

Woman drags child to vehicle in church parking lot and delivers multiple punches to head after victim asked for water: Police, Jerry Lambe, Law & Crime, Aug 26th, 2026, 4:15 pm

A 44-year-old Indiana woman is accused of repeatedly punching a child in the head in a church parking lot after the victim asked her for water, later telling police the child had been "out of control" and "embarrassing" her. Amy Fuller, of Warsaw, was taken into custody over the weekend and charged with one count each of felony domestic battery and felony neglect of a dependent, court records show.

the scene in a purple car with the victim and another child, the Herald Republican reported.

Speaking to police, the victim reportedly said Fuller only struck them one time in the leg. The child, who police said appeared scared, reportedly had a visible hand-shaped welt on their leg. However, four witnesses from the church allegedly provided statements to police telling a different story. According to the witnesses, the child had repeatedly asked Fuller for water. Fuller reportedly responded, "I don't f—ing care." Fuller then dragged the child to the purple car where she allegedly "punched [them] in the back of the head several times," according to the affidavit. Doctors examined the victim at Cameron Memorial Community Hospital, where they reportedly found "a large lump on the back of the victim's head," court records state.

When Fuller was questioned by police, she reportedly denied striking the child, but did state that the child had been "embarrassing me in front of people." Fuller was booked into the Steuben County Jail that day. She was released Tuesday after posting bond of $750, records show. If convicted of both charges, Fuller faces up to 8½ years in prison and a maximum fine of $10,000.

She might have simply opened the book, absorbed the commands to wage war on the kuffar, to make Allah's law supreme, and to show no mercy to those who reject it... and she immediately started planning a nail-bomb massacre at the New York State Capitol.

Let's listen to Aisha (Jessica) in her own words:

"Praise be to Allah for September 11th."

"When I can migrate, I will poison these infidels."

"Blowing kafirs brains out is beautiful."

"I want to destroy as much of the building as possible and kill the senators while they are meeting... destroy some of the taghut."

"I want something that's gonna do the job. I don't want to take this kind of risk and then have it kill what, two or three people what good is that?"

"Ideally, it would be the White House with the President but like that's an even harder job... So that's kind of where my mind is at its like the biggest political building that I know of around this area."

"They kuffar need to know that we will be coming for them and that we will make god's law supreme."

She conducted repeated reconnaissance on the Capitol, photographed it from every angle, circled the target, and planned to plant the device in a DoorDash bag so she looked like a delivery driver.

She bought the nails, tape, battery, and acetone herself. She named the attack “Operation Give Taghut the Boot.”

She asked for a concealed handgun so she could shoot cops if they closed in. She said if her roommate found the bomb she would “cut her.” She hoped to kill at least half of the 200 people inside. She told undercovers she would rather die than go to prison.

From “a little girl waving an American flag after 9/11” to stickers of the falling towers and a nail bomb for the state legislature.

The ideology does the rest.

Where Islam grows... people die, or, in this case, try...

Notice how the media is handling her name.

In almost every report she is “Jessica Bowie... who went by Aisha Saif.”

MINNEAPOLIS — Police reports and search-warrant records obtained by KARE 11 show how quickly law enforcement responded to last year's mass shooting at Annunciation Catholic Church and School, while offering new insights into the investigation.

The shooting, which occurred before 8:30 a.m. on the first day of school last year, killed two children, Harper Moyski, 10, and Fletcher Merkel, 8, and injured dozens of others.

Nearly 2,600 pages of police reports, incident logs and search-warrant filings were obtained by KARE 11 from the Minneapolis Police Department's case file on the shooting and from partner agencies including the Minnesota Bureau of Criminal Apprehension (BCA), the ATF and several suburban police departments.

Scientists Try To Disprove The Bible...End Up Discovering The TOMB of Jesus EXACTLY as Bible Describes

Archaeologists have discovered the tomb of Jesus under the Church of the Holy Sepulchre.

They found a 2,000-year-old garden, grapevines, olive trees, and a rock-cut tomb—exactly as it is described in the Bible.

The Bible is real, and Jesus is real. There is nothing more liberating and fulfilling than that truth.
