THREAT WARNING

This report identifies a graphic escalation in the operational tempo across enemy lines of effort in Strategic, Operation and Tactical operations. This includes who reports by ADN Cuba describing although open source, critical threat information inside the US and merges with the high confidence assessment that these operations are controlled by foreign intelligence services using USPER witting recruited assets. As well, churches are targeted and have been for some time, referring to my emphasis on target surveillance and intelligence collection. In Obscura emphasis herein is yellow highlighted text.

Therefore, currently Obscura assesses with HIGH confidence kinetic attacks are planned, during a period of high threat across Europe, The United States and the Middle East. This is based on analysis of collected OSINT over a continuum and the indicators placed in open sources by terrorist and guerilla forces. This includes the recent kinetic operations in the UK, and France, with indications the French operations will spread to other regions.

Indications from numerous undisclosed INOBSCURA sources, prior reporting of rampant target assessment and intelligence collection against U.S. churches by these known groups and their clandestine cell activities. Various other OSINT NGO sources are also reporting similar activities targeting US military locations domestically. Three conditions

Flydubai co-pilot, who is believed to have attempted to crash the plane on the route from Dubai to Tel Aviv, is suspected of having been indoctrinated into Al-Qaeda's ideology, Channel 12 News reported on Friday, citing an ongoing investigation into the matter. According to the probe, investigators currently assess that the attacker acted alone in carrying out the "terrorist attack," while authorities are working to determine whether similar threats could emerge at other foreign airlines. The probe is reportedly being handled by Israel's security establishment as if the aircraft had crashed.

The plane was carrying nearly 180 Israeli passengers when it was forced to land in Tabuk, Saudi Arabia, with the pilot, Smit Machchhar, sustaining injuries in the cockpit. Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu hailed the attacked captain, who fought back despite being wounded and "managed to prevent a 9/11 disaster."

Louisiana brothers charged with bankrolling Hamas, Jessica Russak-Hoffman, Jewish News Service, 1 Oct 26, <https://www.jns.org/news/u-s-news/louisiana-brothers-charged-with-bankrolling-hamas>

The brothers communicated with Saleem Alzaq, a Gaza-based fundraiser whose social media accounts promoted Hamas while soliciting donations presented as charitable aid, according to FBI affidavits included with the complaints. Investigators allege that the older brother sent $81,272 with two PayPal accounts between November 2023 and February 2026 and transferred $2,000 in October 2023 via Western Union. The younger brother allegedly sent about $2,900 via four Western Union transactions between July 2021 and April 2023. The affidavit also states that an undercover New York City Police Department employee contacted Alzaq in November 2025. Alzaq allegedly directed the employee to contact the older Adhami, who offered to process a donation through his store's credit card system as though the donor was making a purchase and then transfer the money.

charged with a terror offence. Henry Vaughan, SkyNews UK, Saturday 3 October 2026 14:38, UK <https://news.sky.com/story/two-iranian-men-targeted-manchester-jewish-museum-and-heaton-park-synagogue-in-bomb-plot-13594604?dcmp=snt-sf-twitter>

It is alleged they conducted hostile reconnaissance of key Jewish locations in Manchester on 20 September, the first day of Yom Kippur - widely considered the holiest day in the Jewish calendar. The alleged targets included the Manchester Jewish Museum and the Heaton Park synagogue, where Melvin Cravitz, 66, and Adrian Daulby, 53, were killed in a terror attack by Jihad al Shamie, 35, on October 2 last year. Prosecutors say Ahmadyan and Salehi were sent instructions on how to make an improvised explosive device out of chlorine and brake fluid.

IN OBSCURA COMMENT

This case highlights the target surveillance in the pre-attack intelligence collection phase, and the apparent off the shelf gathering of the supplies to construct improvised explosive devices. This also leans into the state sponsor research, development, test and evaluation of devices to come which permit clandestine to covert, mission successes. Do NOT be deluded into thinking Jewish targets are not Christian targets, I have clearly shown analysis that Christians are vehement targets globally, and inside the United States, perpetual, aggressive and clearly ready for execution.

The National Security Council issued an updated warning Sunday of terror threats against Israelis and Jews abroad ahead of the Jewish holiday season, which begins this weekend with Rosh Hashanah and ends three weeks later with the conclusion of Sukkot. The NSC stressed that the assessment did not constitute new travel warnings, but was intended to reflect the latest trends in global terror activity and their impact on the threat facing Israelis abroad.

German officials foiled Hamas plot to launch attacks on Oct 7 anniversary

German officials said it had unveiled plans from seven individuals who had acquired weapons for Hamas with the goal of carrying out an attack on Oct. 7, 2025. The German federal prosecutor's office said it had unveiled plans from seven individuals who had acquired weapons for Hamas with the goal of carrying out an attack on Oct. 7, 2025, on the two-year anniversary of the attacks that launched a full-scale war between Israel and the militant group.

Hamas planned Berlin-Vienna attacks for Oct. 7 anniversary, indictment shows

Prosecutors allege principal targets included Israeli diplomats, Jewish community centers and pro-Israel demonstrations. | Stefan Frank, September 11, 2026 1:35 pm C ET, By Per Hinrichs, Politico, <https://www.politico.eu/article/hamas-planned-berlin-vienna-attacks-for-oct-7-anniversary-indictment-shows/>

Federal prosecutors said last year that they had arrested men linked to the Palestinian militant group who were suspected of planning attacks on Israeli and Jewish targets in Germany. The indictment, which has not been made public, reveals that Vienna was also an intended target — and that the attacks in the two capitals were to be coordinated. The principal targets included Israeli diplomats, Jewish community centers and pro-Israel demonstrations.

Seven men have been charged in connection with the plot and remain in pretrial detention, according to the indictment. One of the accused was working as a confidential informant for Germany's domestic intelligence agency. The files show that the informant continued reporting to his intelligence handler while allegedly failing to disclose the full extent of his own involvement in obtaining ammunition for the group.

Fires lit on streets across France after student protests force hundreds of schools to close, BBC 2 October 2026, <https://www.bbc.com/news/live/cmz2z20vz124t>

Images from this afternoon show burning barricades in Pantin, bins set alight in Paris and crowds of protesters and riot police on the streets. More than 500 schools are facing disruption. At least 65 staff members have been injured in the unrest, the country's education ministry says. The demonstrations - over a lack of teachers, overcrowded classrooms and run-down buildings - started earlier this week in Paris then spread across the country.

Riot hell erupts in France as school protesters attack police and firefighters

France has been gripped by escalating student unrest, with schools set ablaze, police and firefighters attacked and almost 2,000 people arrested as protests over education conditions have spread across the country. The demonstrations, which began around complaints about overcrowded classrooms, teacher shortages and heavy workloads, have developed into a wider public-order crisis in several cities.

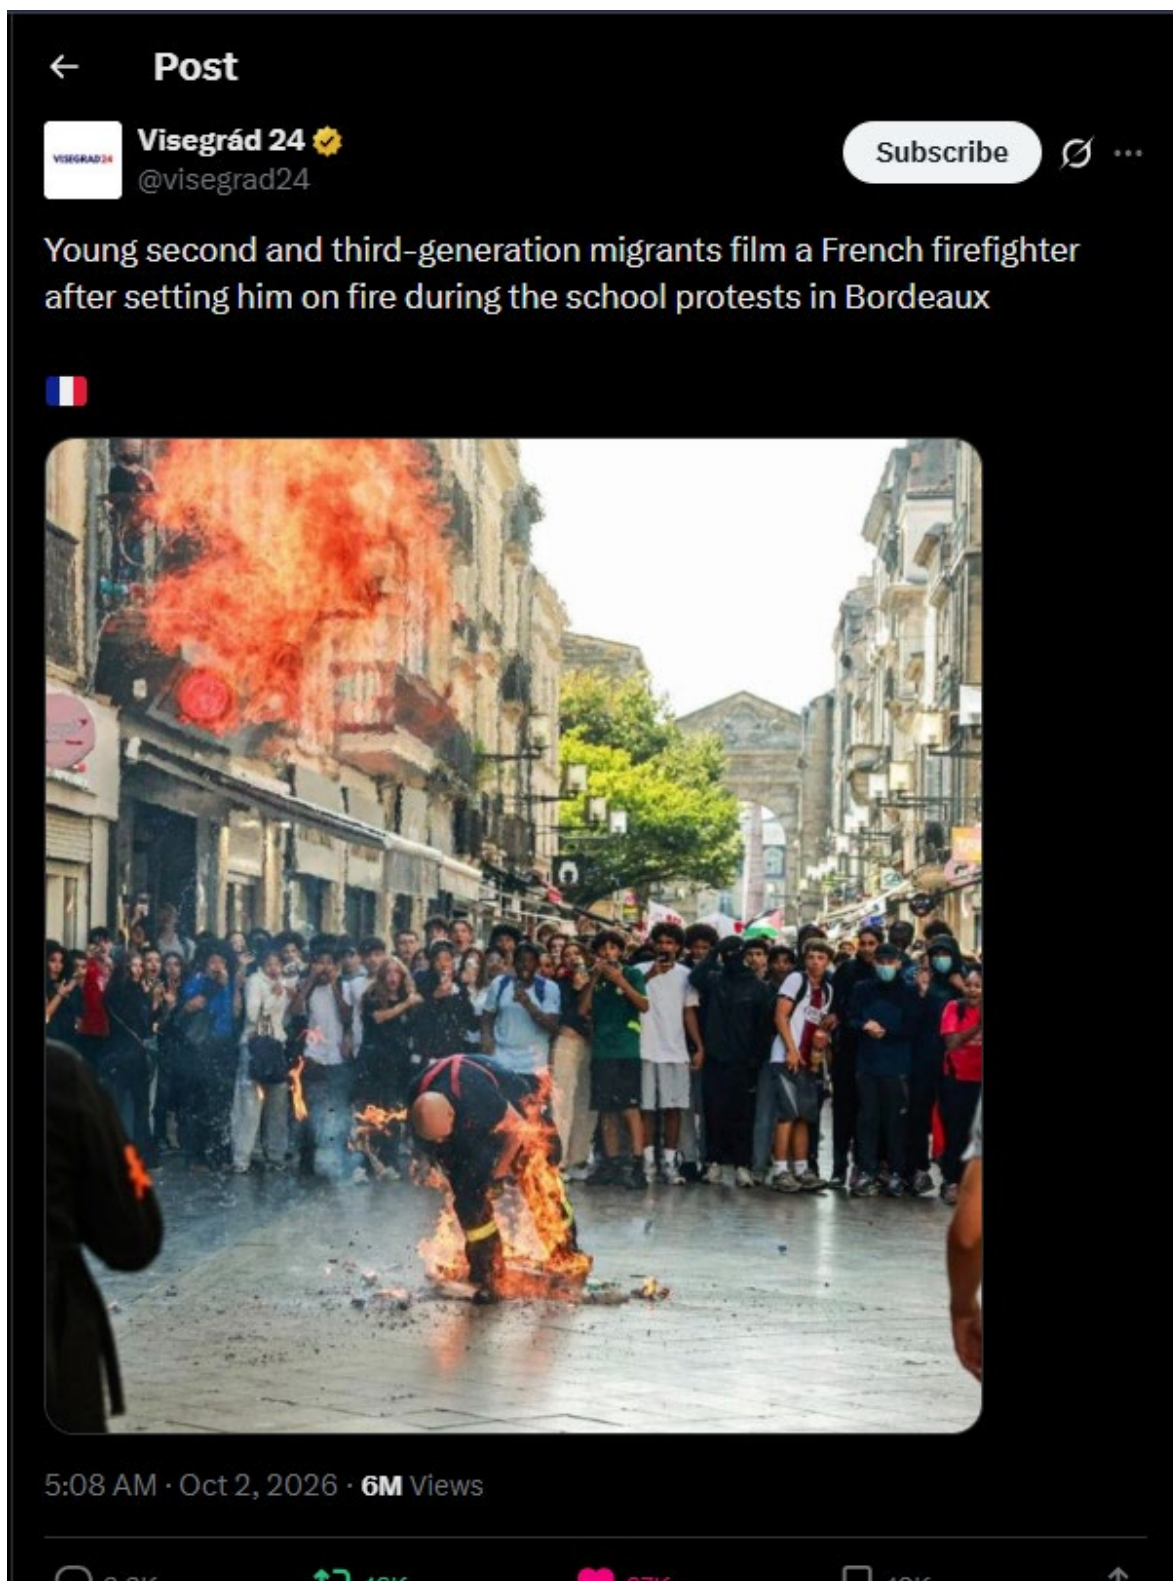

French Justice Minister Gérald Darmanin said about 2,000 people had been arrested since the protests began, with roughly two-thirds placed in police custody. He said the movement had shifted from high-school demonstrations into a broader disturbance after protesters targeted buses and set schools on fire.

The unrest has spread from the Paris region to cities including Marseille, Strasbourg, Toulouse, Nantes and Lille. Reuters reported that at least 400 schools and other educational establishments were expected to remain closed on Friday as authorities struggled to contain the violence.

To his credit, President Trump has been willing to acknowledge one of those elephants in the room that his predecessors have always ignored: the global persecution of Christians. As we recently saw, when speaking before the U.N. on September 22, 2026, Trump said: The craven hypocrites of the Human Rights Council have little to say about the persecution of Christians. I mean, Christians are being persecuted all over the world. It's not even believable. I never thought I'd say it, but it's been happening for a long time. Nor is this the first time he publicly cites this topic that virtually every other Western politician ignores.

Court papers released Thursday show police believe the man accused of killing a West Palm Beach minister thought the minister was dating his ex-girlfriend. Hugh Milner is accused of shooting minister Akeem Moore while Moore sat in a car with his girlfriend early Sunday morning. The court papers said police believe Milner was enraged and looking for his ex-girlfriend, sending her angry text messages, including, "You the main one lying n manipulating you can manipulate everything else but the truth." Minutes after sending that text, Milner spotted Moore and his girlfriend sitting in a car outside the girlfriend's home on Ontario Place.

Amid rising violence, European lawmakers, bishops, and civil organizations are calling for the EU to appoint a special envoy on religious freedom and coordinator of anti-Christian hatred. By Grace Camara, January 26, 2026 – EWTN News

Growing incidents of violence and heightened security concerns have sharpened calls for the European Union to protect Christian communities following the release this month of the 2026 Open Doors World Watch List. According to the list, 1 in 7 Christians worldwide — approximately 388 million — faced high levels of persecution in 2024-2025, including beheadings, mass killings, and abductions.

The findings reflect a broader surge in attacks across Europe. An International Observatory on Intolerance and Discrimination Against Christians report published in November 2025

For weeks, a sprawling, informal network of group chats—largely using the encrypted messaging app Signal—had been a vital part of the public response to what the Trump administration called "Operation Metro Surge." The operation deployed thousands of Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) officials and other federal law enforcement personnel, tasked with apprehending and deporting undocumented immigrants. Their tactics were blunt and aggressive, as they disregarded warrant requirements and drew allegations of racial profiling and unlawful arrests.

IN OBSCURA COMMENT

Knowledge of the tradecraft used by these Unconventional Warfare (Guerilla) groups using clandestine communications. Other aspects of this tradecraft also include, using only open media reporting during the 60s-70s and recent guerilla operations during the Floyd riots era, radio jammers which obstructed law enforcement communications. These groups, all of them aligned under the Red Green Alliance employ a wide range of clandestine tradecraft. This is insurgent/guerilla in bias. BUT for the church security professional, this is an excellent example of why I emphasize "know the target." They target churches and Christians. Be ready and aware of how they move and target.

An internal planning document distributed by the National Network on Cuba (NNOC) since June 2026, which ADN Cuba accessed, instructs organizers across the United States to prepare protests in front of offices of the Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE), military bases, recruitment centers, and federal institutions in the event of military confrontation between Washington and Havana.

The document, titled National Rapid Response Plan, lays out a coordinated strategy to activate demonstrations within 24 hours of a potential U.S. military attack on Cuba's dictatorship or an imminent military escalation. More than a general call to protest, it identifies specific protest targets, establishes a nationwide response timeline, and provides operational guidance for synchronizing actions across affiliated organizations. The plan calls for local actions to target “one or more” of three categories, depending on the conditions of each city:

Christian street preachers planning to demonstrate outside Saturday's Pride Kel-So event in Southlake have received death threats and a warning that sprinklers could damage their equipment, according to preacher Richard Penkoski. The allegations come as organizers prepare for a smaller October 3 gathering after the Southlake City Council rejected a permit for the larger festival. As previously reported by The Dallas Express, council members unanimously denied a specific use permit on September 15 for the event at St. Martin-in-the-Fields Episcopal Church.

Harvard Police Reopen Memorial Hall After Bomb Threat Prompts Shelter-in-Place

The Harvard University Police Department responded to a bomb threat at Memorial Hall Monday morning, prompting the University to issue a shelter-in-place order for people near the building.

Harvard sent an emergency alert around 8:45 a.m., instructing affiliates near Memorial Hall to shelter in place and telling others to avoid the area until further notice.

HUPD lifted the shelter-in-place order around 9:20 a.m., but advised affiliates to continue avoiding Memorial Hall and the nearby Zimmer Hall plaza. At 10:18 a.m., HUPD also closed Memorial Church, which sits inside Harvard Yard, "out of an abundance of caution." Barriers were then placed in the Yard blocking the entrances to Memorial Church as police concentrated at Memorial Hall.

More than three hours later, HUPD issued its final alert and reopened Memorial Hall and Memorial Church just after 12:30 p.m. The investigation remained ongoing, according to the alert.
